lives and industries.

Ronak Olickal

A message from our leadership

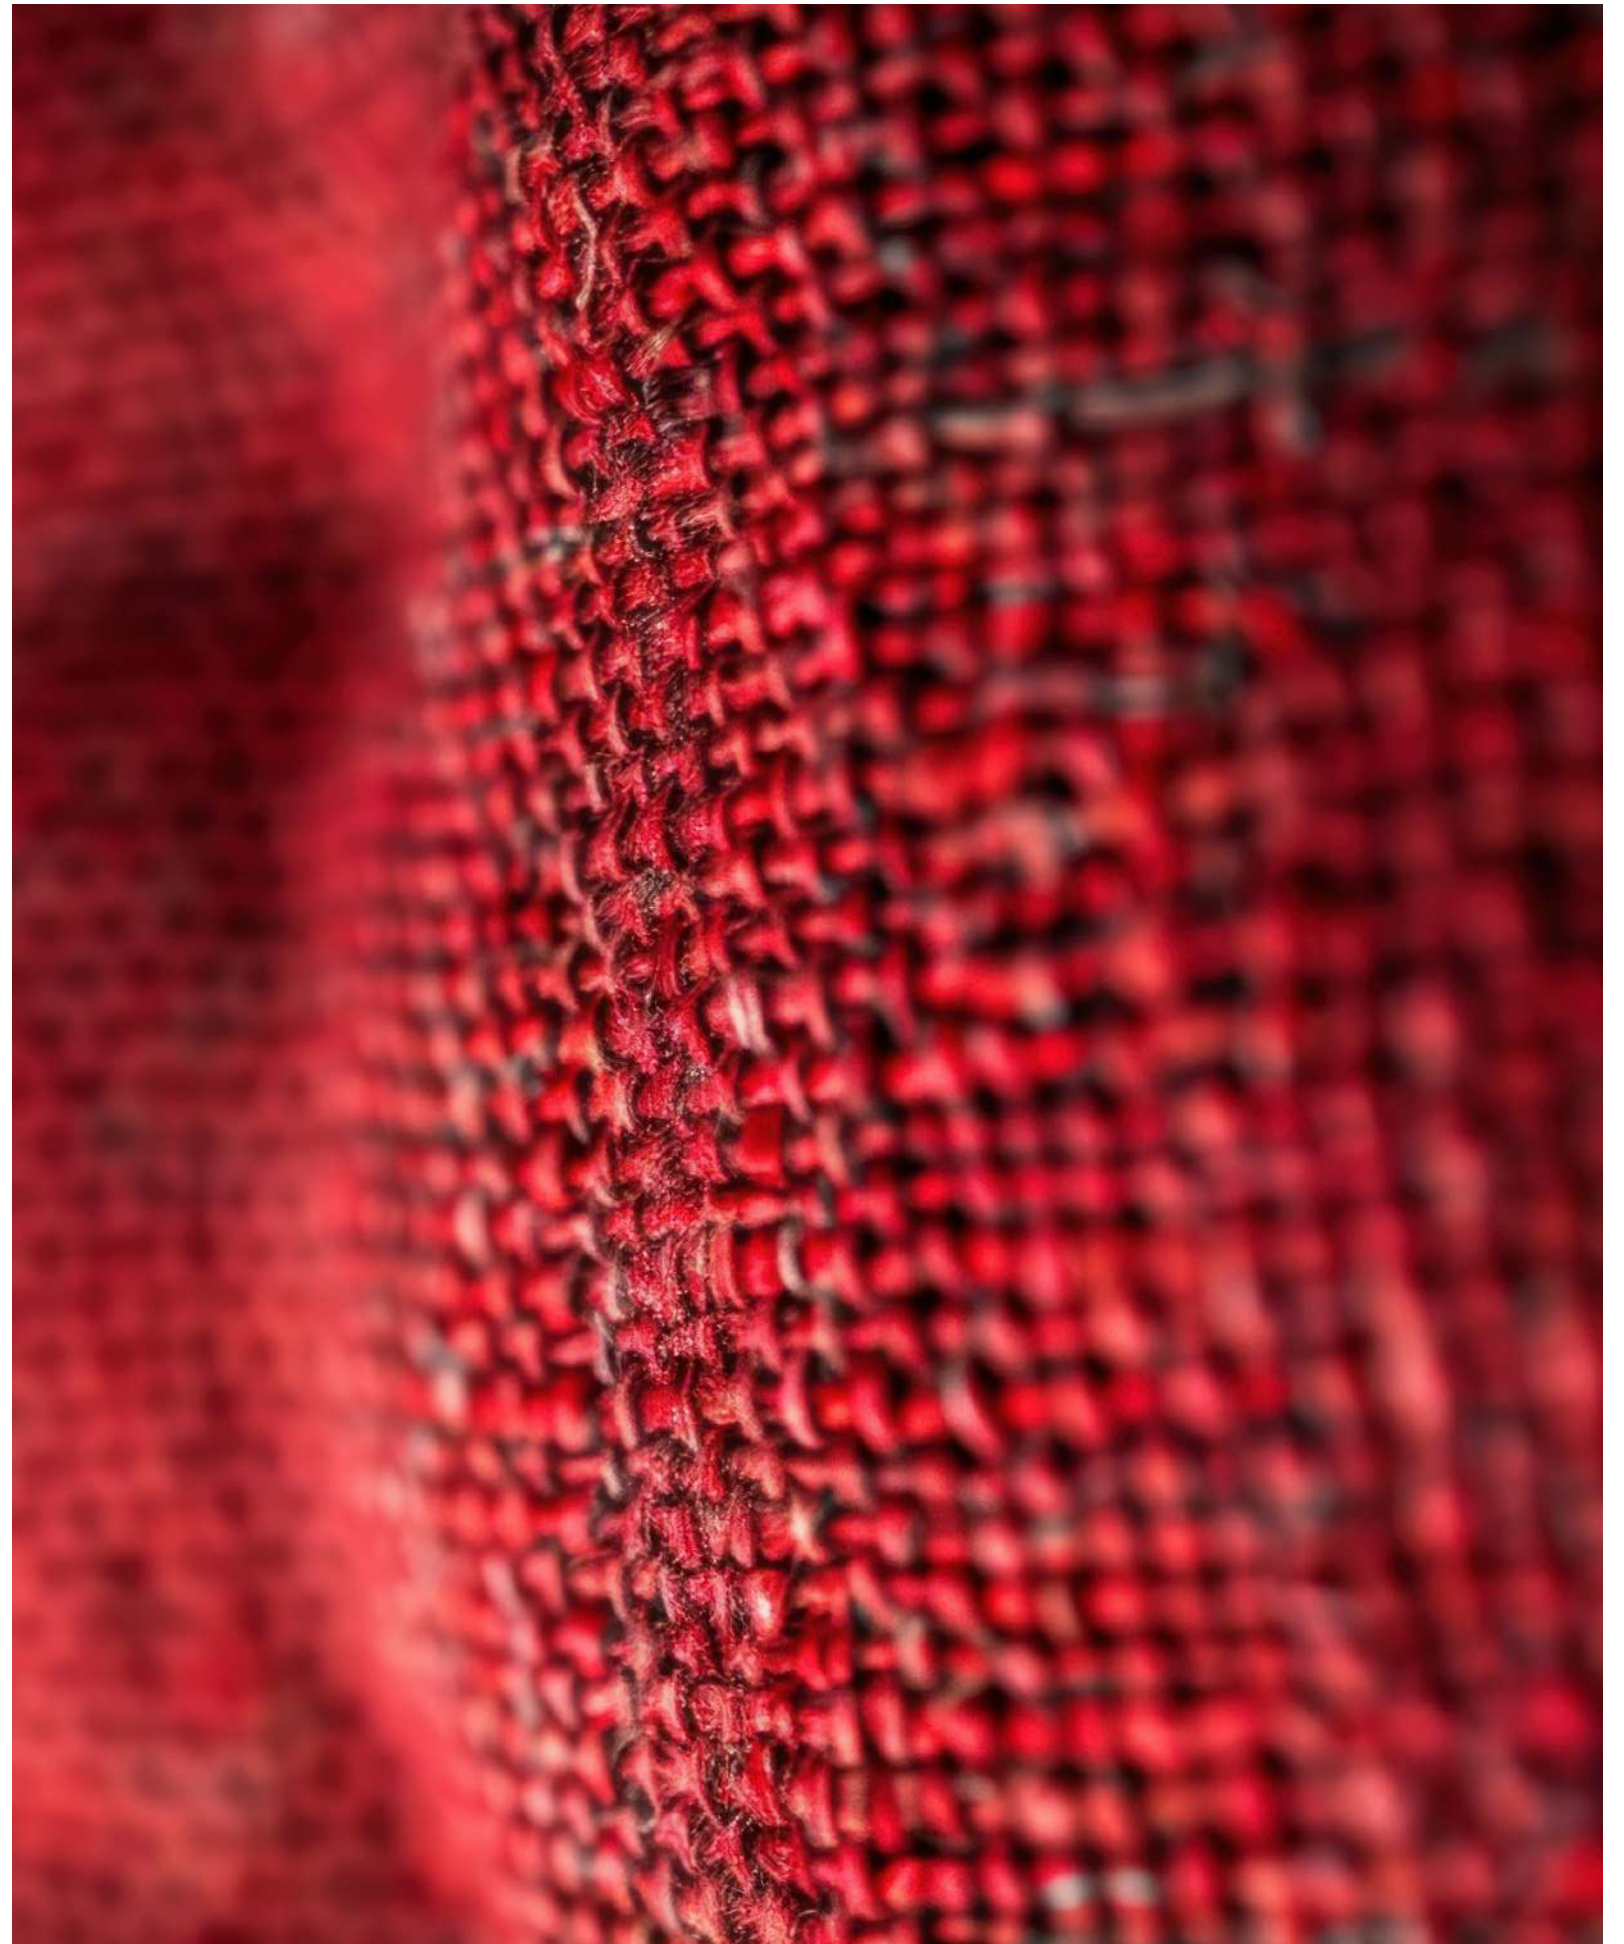

Since 2007, Woven Fabric Company has grown with one conviction: uniforms are not commodities, they are commitments. They carry responsibility for the people who wear them, for the institutions they represent, and for the operations they make possible.

We have maintained zero returns since our founding, delivered consistently on time to industries where delays can halt entire operations, eliminated plastic through Blazion Gaia, and provided livelihoods for over 5,000 women, who now form more than ninety per cent of our workforce.

As we look forward, growth will not be measured only in numbers, but in responsibility to customers who depend on us, to communities that work with us, and to the planet we share.

FOUNDATION

At Woven Fabric Company, foundations are built on people, scale and partnerships. More than one thousand women form the core of our workforce, creating over four million uniforms each year. Supported by supply chain partners within a 300 kilometre radius, many of whom have worked with us for over thirty years, we combine skill, resilience and trust to deliver uniforms that serve industries worldwide.

Numbers that speak for us

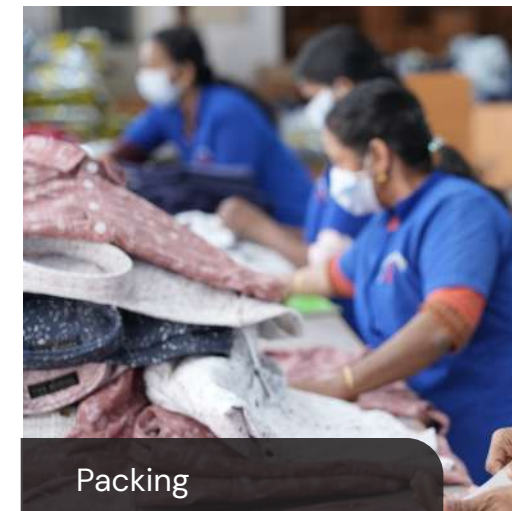

Woven Fabric Company is a global leader in uniforms, producing more than four million garments annually for healthcare, hospitality, education, utilities, defence and protective industries. Every day, millions of people worldwide wear our uniforms with confidence, knowing they are built to protect, empower and endure.

At the heart of WFC are over one thousand women, whose skills and dedication shape each garment. Supported by long-standing supply chain partners within a 300 kilometre radius, we maintain over £20 million in finished uniforms and £5 million in trims and accessories, enabling weekly deliveries of over ten thousand garments.

Our products are defined by seven performance pillars and delivered through four tiers : Essentials, Prime, Gaia and Flex, to meet diverse needs. Certified to ISO 9001, ISO 14001 and UL, and tested in ISO 17025 accredited laboratories, WFC ensures quality, responsibility and sustainability in every uniform we make.

PRODUCT

Woven Fabric Company delivers uniforms tuned to your needs. Each garment is guided by seven pillars of protection, durability, sustainability, comfort, look, feel and design, and offered across four tiers: Essentials, Prime, Gaia and Flex. This framework adapts to every industry and wearer, from professional uniforms to protective clothing and defence and tactical solutions.

Four tiers, infinite possibilities

The strength of WFC lies in our ability to tune performance to specific needs. Seven performance pillars: protection, durability, sustainability, comfort, look, feel and design, underpin four product tiers: Essentials, Prime, Gaia and Flex. This system ensures that every uniform is adapted to the wearer's world and built to last.

Essentials

Essentials deliver reliable and accessible solutions for everyday use.

Prime

Prime offers elevated performance and refined comfort.

Flex

Flex provides enhanced mobility to all users with options like natural or synthetic stretch.

Gaia

Gaia, our sustainable tier, uses BCI cotton, recycled polyester, low-impact dyes, and recyclable packaging.

Trusted Quality >>>

Zero returns, proved reliability

Certified to Global Standards

Quality at WFC is backed by ISO 9001, ISO 14001, and UL-certified plants, with products validated in ISO 17025 labs, ensuring global standards of safety, responsibility, and consistency.

Inspected at Every Stage

Excellence begins with materials—every fabric passes the Four Point Inspection, garments are checked at AQL 2.5, and full fibre-level traceability

Proven in Scale and Use

Producing over four million uniforms each year, WFC maintains a record of zero returns—proof of our rigorous systems and uncompromising discipline. Every garment is engineered to withstand repeated laundering and harsh workplace conditions, ensuring lasting performance long after delivery.

ASSURANCE

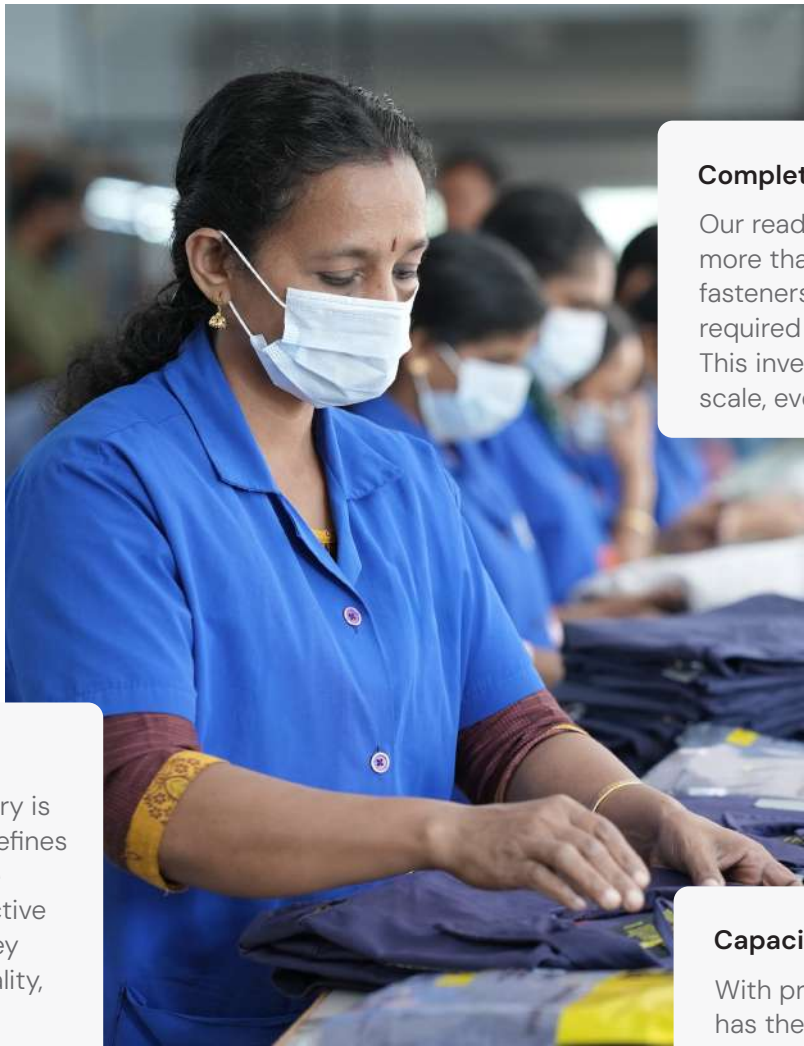

A Commitment You Can Trust

Trusted Quality is not a statement but a promise. Certified, inspected, traceable and durable, every WFC uniform is created with precision and proven in practice. From healthcare to hospitality, from defence to protective industries, our garments give customers and wearers alike the confidence that quality will never be compromised.

Dependable Delivery >>>

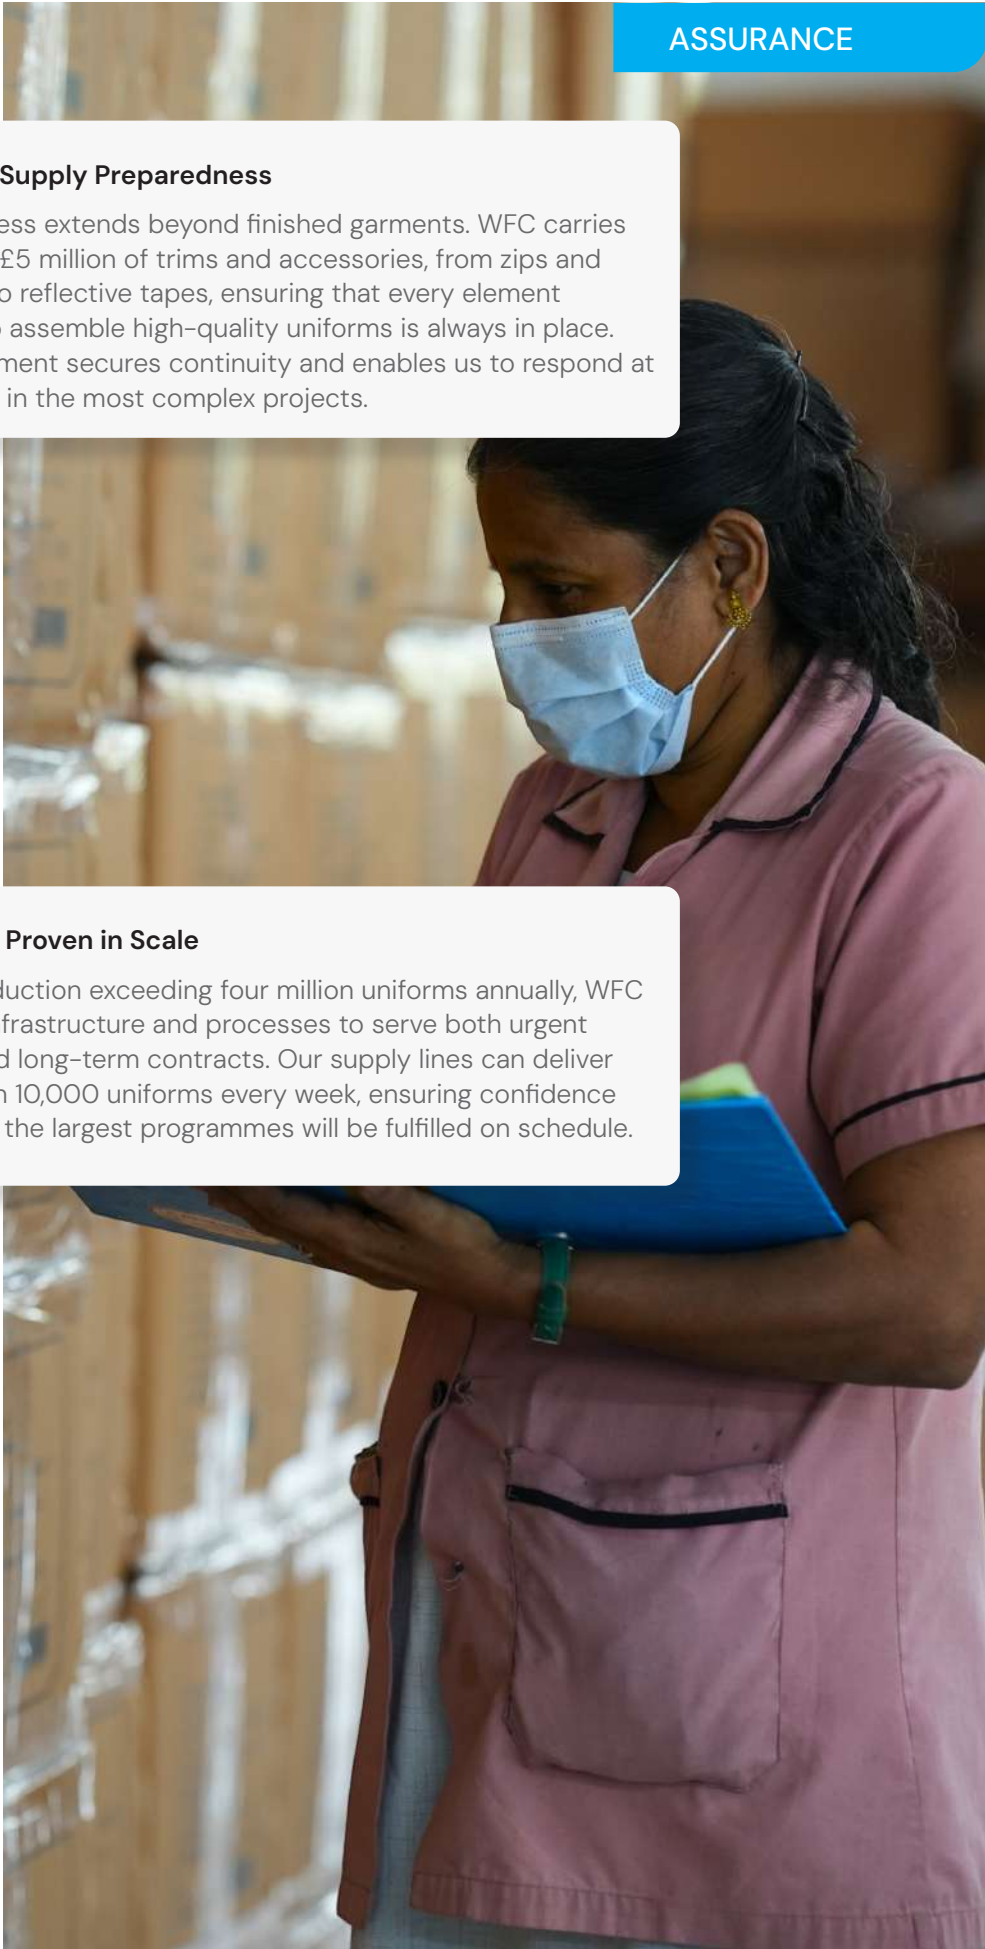

Certainty in every shipment

ASSURANCE

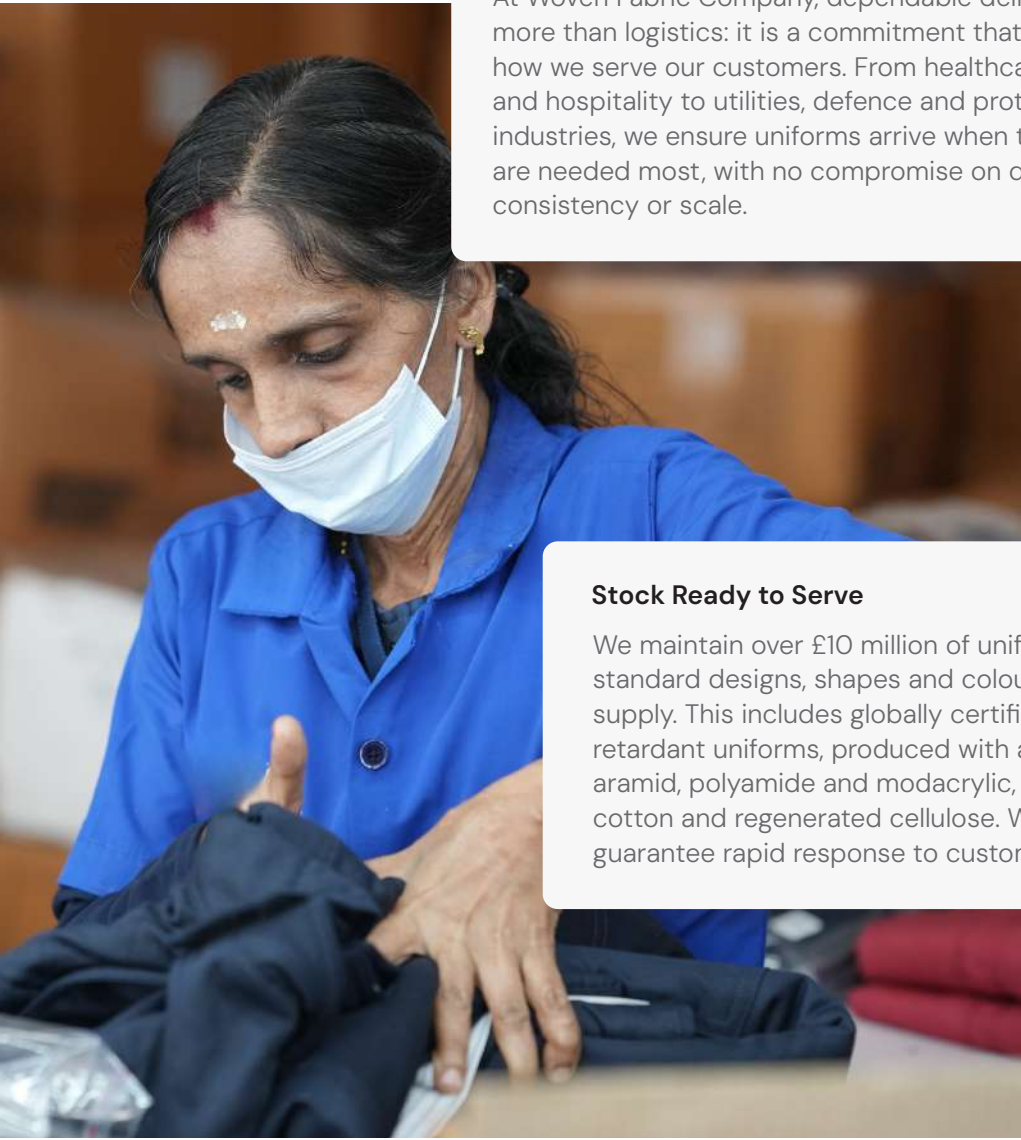

Complete Supply Preparedness

Our readiness extends beyond finished garments. WFC carries more than £5 million of trims and accessories, from zips and fasteners to reflective tapes, ensuring that every element required to assemble high-quality uniforms is always in place. This investment secures continuity and enables us to respond at scale, even in the most complex projects.

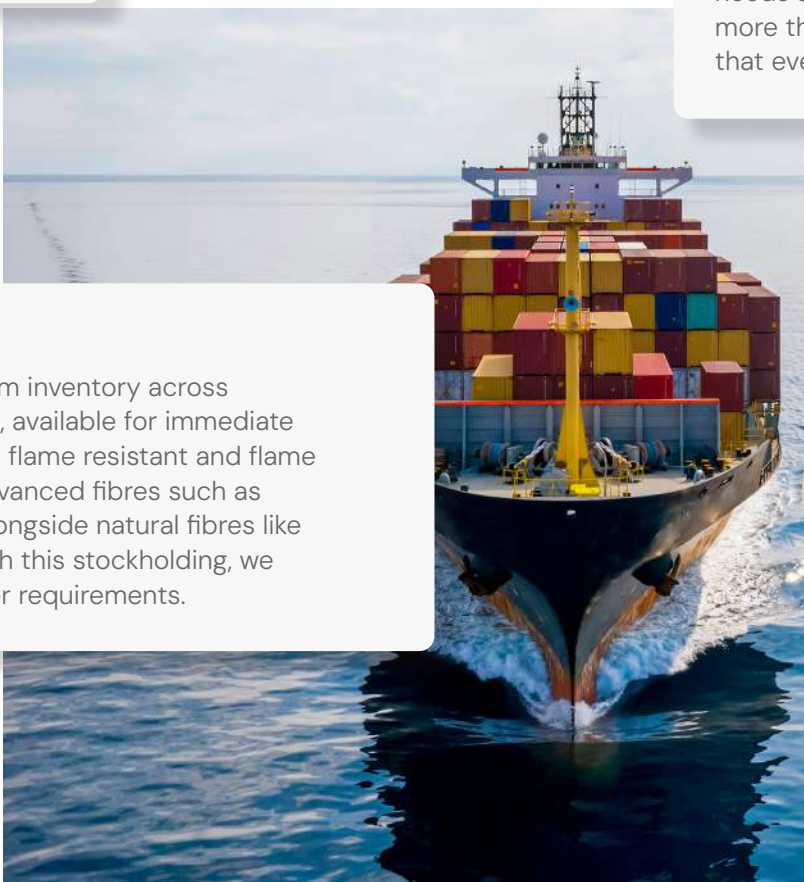

Capacity Proven in Scale

With production exceeding four million uniforms annually, WFC has the infrastructure and processes to serve both urgent needs and long-term contracts. Our supply lines can deliver more than 10,000 uniforms every week, ensuring confidence that even the largest programmes will be fulfilled on schedule.

On Time, Every Time

At Woven Fabric Company, dependable delivery is more than logistics: it is a commitment that defines how we serve our customers. From healthcare and hospitality to utilities, defence and protective industries, we ensure uniforms arrive when they are needed most, with no compromise on quality, consistency or scale.

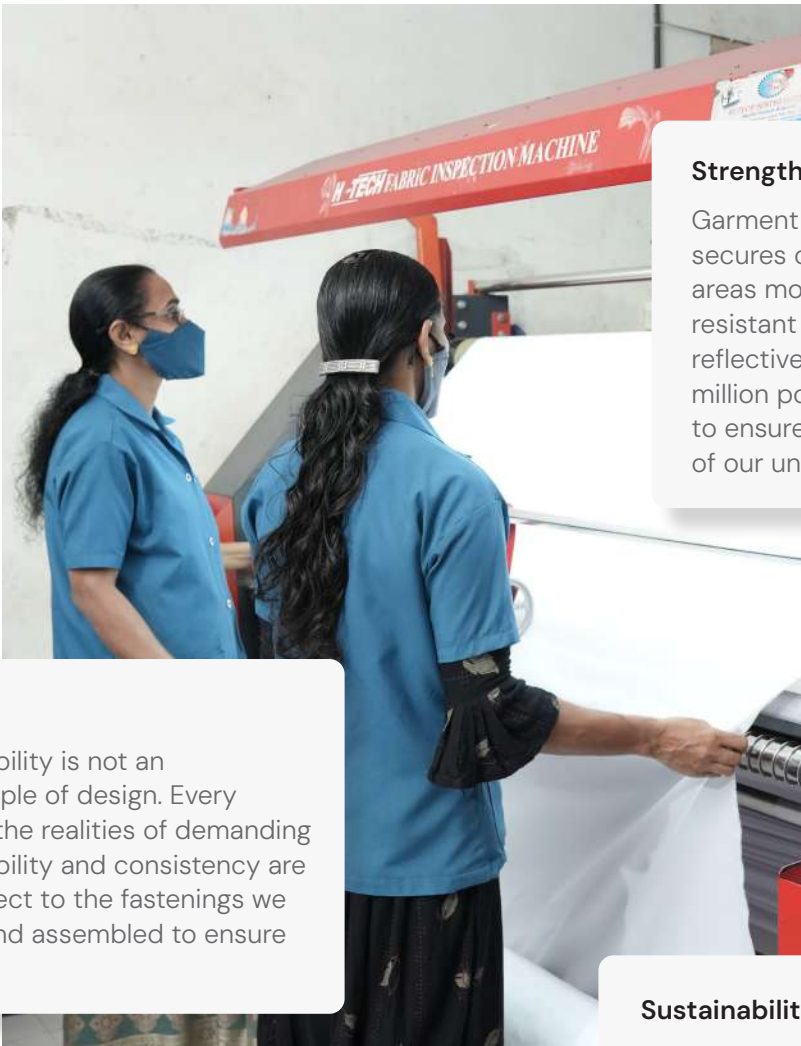

Stock Ready to Serve

We maintain over £10 million of uniform inventory across standard designs, shapes and colours, available for immediate supply. This includes globally certified flame resistant and flame retardant uniforms, produced with advanced fibres such as aramid, polyamide and modacrylic, alongside natural fibres like cotton and regenerated cellulose. With this stockholding, we guarantee rapid response to customer requirements.

Durability >>>

Longer life, less waste

ASSURANCE

Strength in Every Detail

Garment construction is reinforced at every level. Triple stitching secures critical seams, while bar tacked stress points strengthen the areas most subject to wear. We maintain stocks of UL certified flame resistant trims, and only use proven components such as YKK zippers, reflective tapes and industrial grade fasteners. With more than five million pounds of trims and accessories in inventory, we are prepared to ensure that every detail contributes to the longevity and reliability of our uniforms.

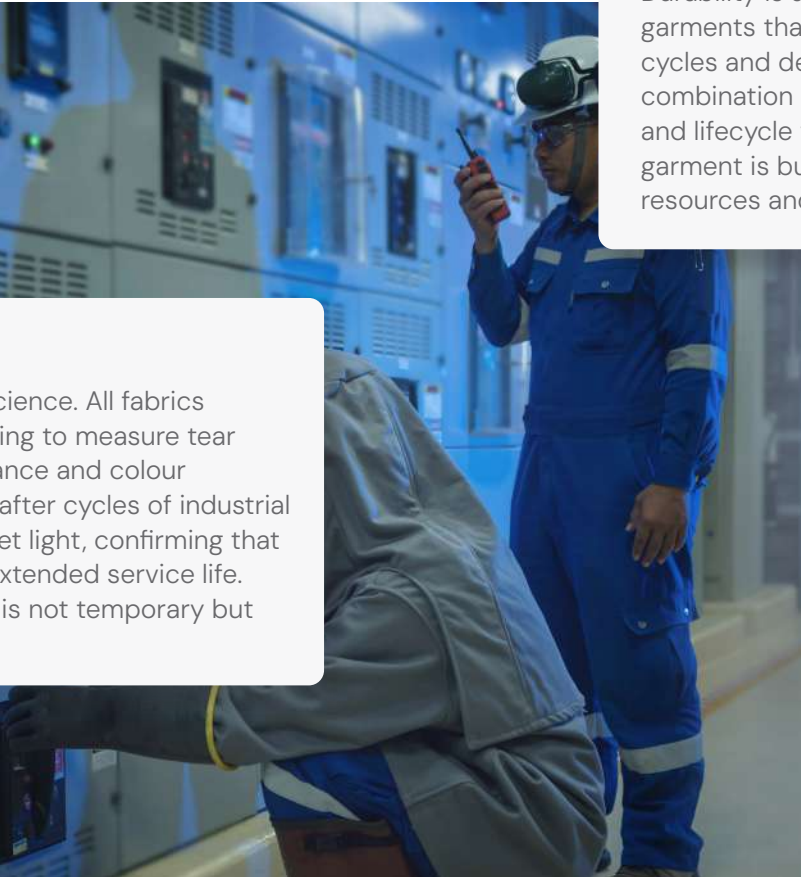

Engineered for Endurance

At Woven Fabric Company, durability is not an afterthought but a guiding principle of design. Every uniform is created to withstand the realities of demanding workplaces where strength, reliability and consistency are essential. From the fibres we select to the fastenings we apply, each element is chosen and assembled to ensure performance that endures.

Scientific Characterisation of Fabrics

Durability begins with rigorous material science. All fabrics are characterised through controlled testing to measure tear strength, tensile strength, abrasion resistance and colour fastness. These evaluations are repeated after cycles of industrial laundering and after exposure to ultraviolet light, confirming that fabrics maintain their properties across extended service life. This approach ensures that performance is not temporary but sustained under real working

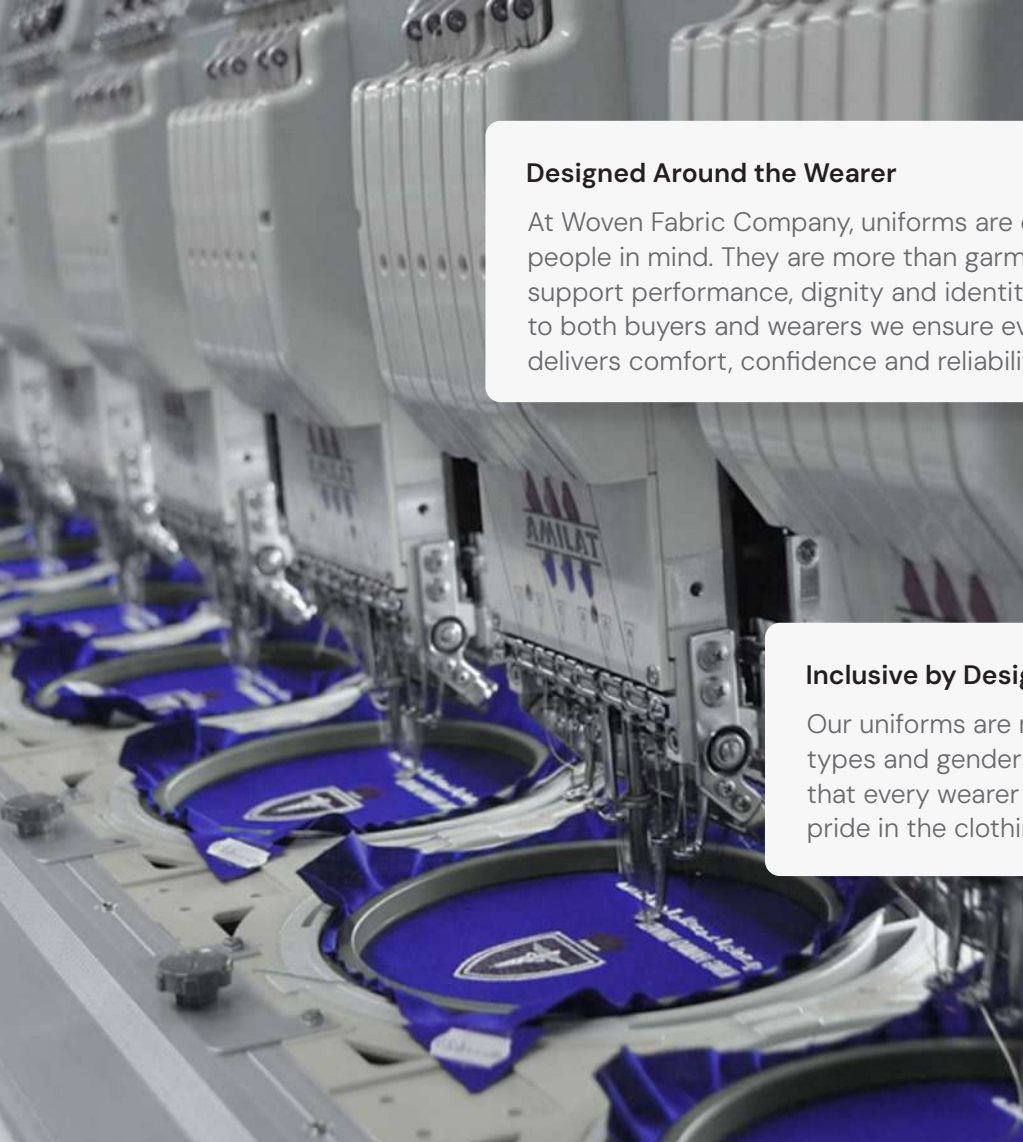

Sustainability Through Longevity

Durability is also a commitment to sustainability. By creating garments that last longer, we reduce waste, minimise replacement cycles and deliver better value for customers. Through a combination of advanced fabric science, reinforced construction and lifecycle testing, Woven Fabric Company ensures that every garment is built to stand the test of time while protecting both resources and people.

Comfort & dignity for wearers

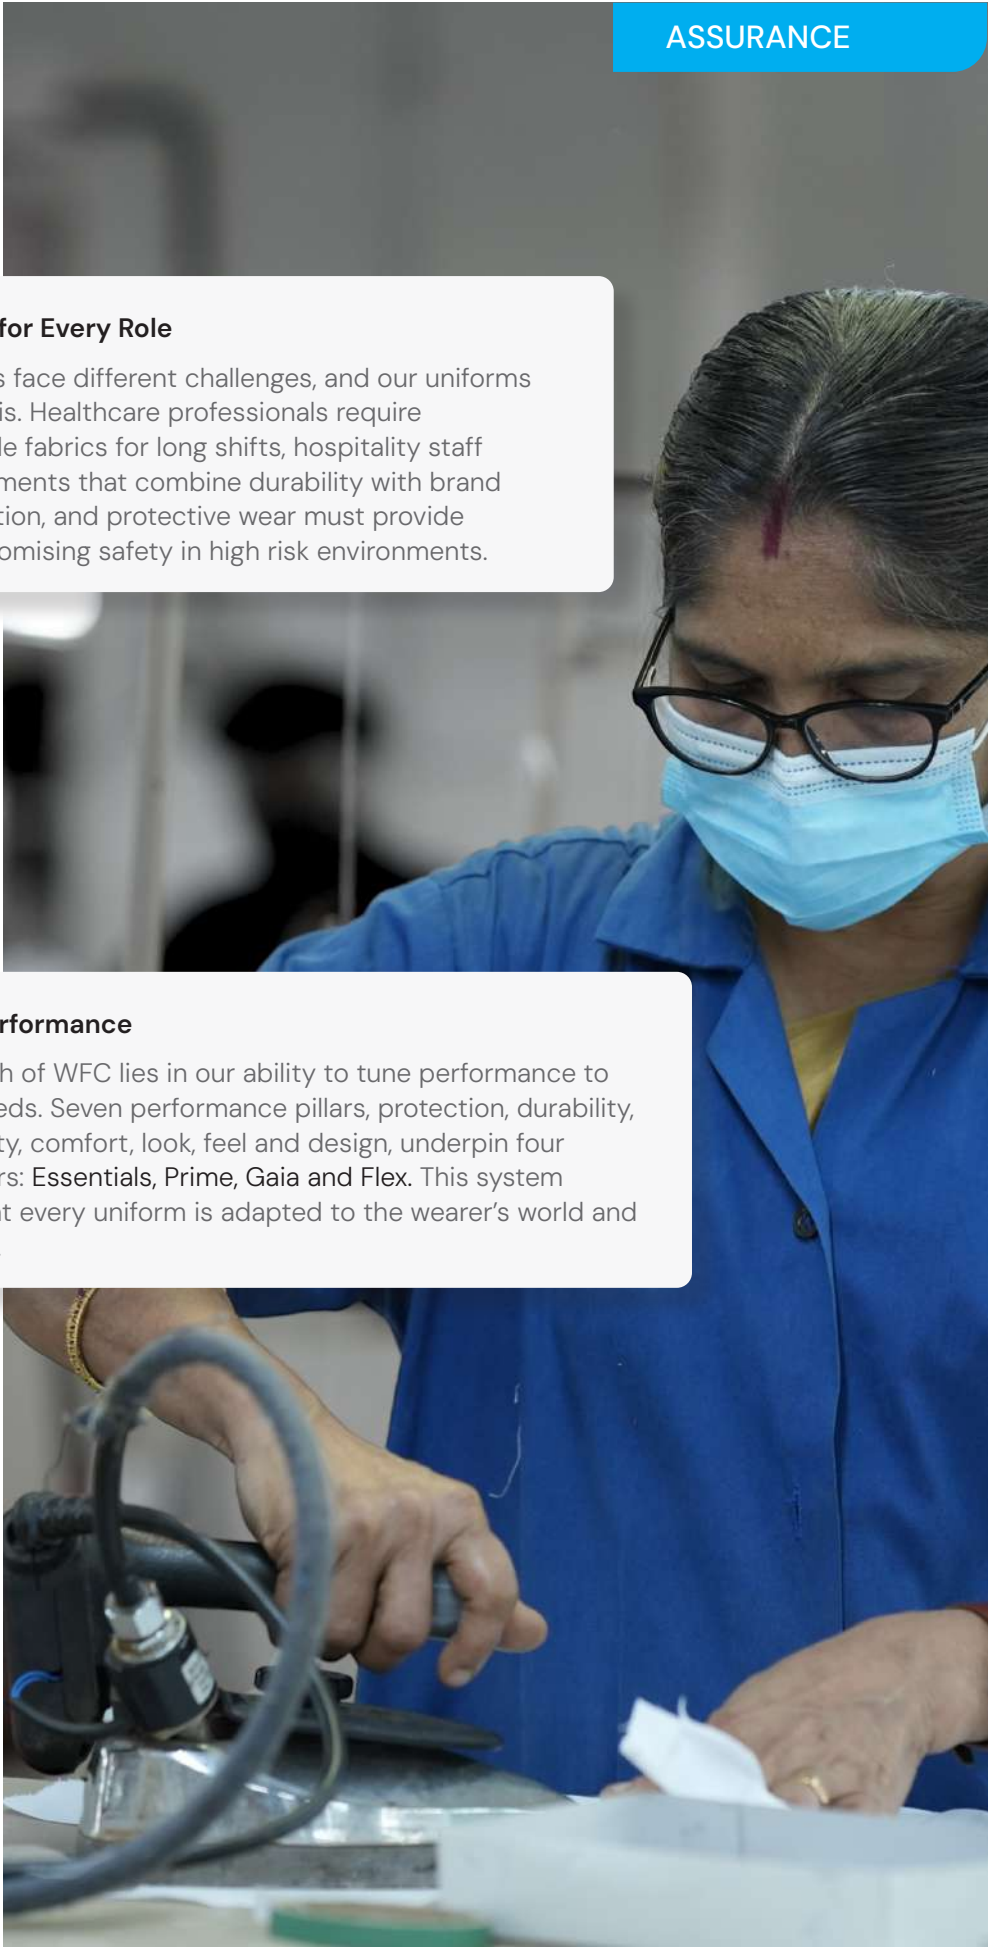

Designed Around the Wearer

At Woven Fabric Company, uniforms are created with people in mind. They are more than garments: they support performance, dignity and identity. By listening to both buyers and wearers we ensure every design delivers comfort, confidence and reliability.

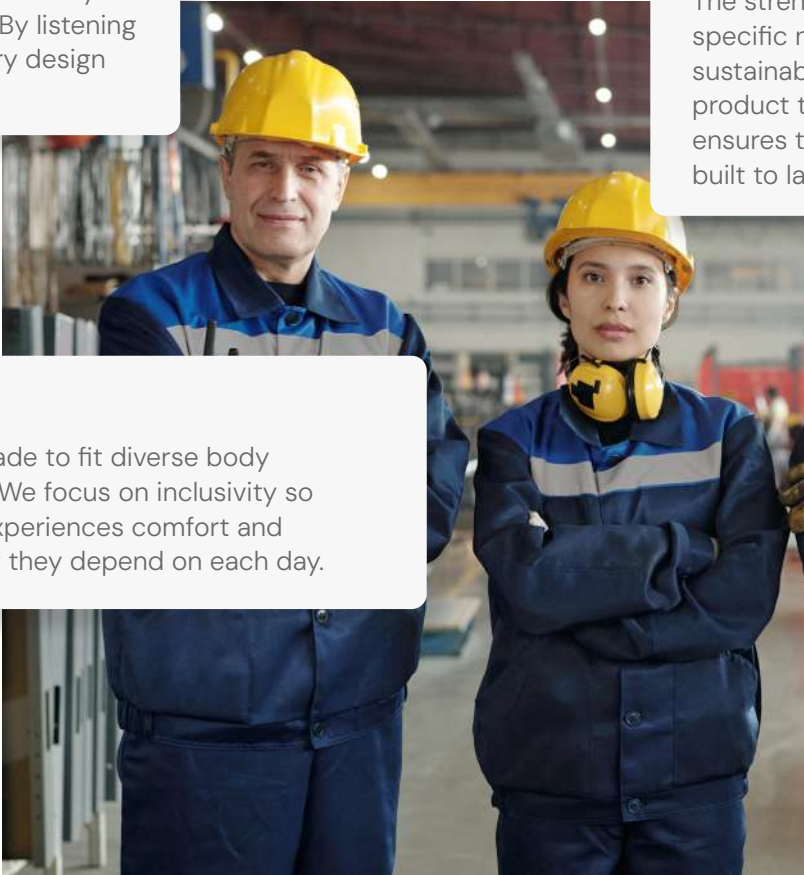

Respect for Every Role

Industries face different challenges, and our uniforms reflect this. Healthcare professionals require breathable fabrics for long shifts, hospitality staff need garments that combine durability with brand presentation, and protective wear must provide uncompromising safety in high risk environments.

Tunable Performance

The strength of WFC lies in our ability to tune performance to specific needs. Seven performance pillars, protection, durability, sustainability, comfort, look, feel and design, underpin four product tiers: Essentials, Prime, Gaia and Flex. This system ensures that every uniform is adapted to the wearer's world and built to last.

Inclusive by Design

Our uniforms are made to fit diverse body types and genders. We focus on inclusivity so that every wearer experiences comfort and pride in the clothing they depend on each day.

Certified responsibility >>>

Global standards you can trust

ASSURANCE

Ethical Supply Chains

At Woven Fabric Company, responsibility is woven into every stage of what we do. It is not simply about compliance but about building trust with customers, partners and wearers. We recognise that uniforms carry more than fabric, they carry values, and we take responsibility for ensuring that those values are upheld through transparency, integrity and care.

Certified to Global Standards

Our operations and products are validated by the highest international benchmarks. WFC is certified to ISO 9001 for quality management, ISO 14001 for environmental management and UL for product safety. Our production sites and processes undergo regular independent audits to confirm that these standards are consistently applied. Beyond plant certification, our uniforms are tested in ISO 17025 accredited laboratories, ensuring that every claim is backed by independent data..

Ethical Supply Chain

Responsibility extends across our supply chain. We operate with Sedex SMETA and WRAP accreditation, providing assurance of ethical trade, safe working conditions and fair labour practices. We uphold a strict zero tolerance policy on modern slavery, and promote equality and inclusion throughout our workforce and partnerships. Many of our core suppliers have collaborated with us for more than three decades, providing stability, transparency and a shared commitment to ethical practice.

PLANET

At Woven Fabric Company we care for the planet in everything we do. We choose responsible cotton and recycled fibres and low impact dyes. We keep our supply chain close to reduce travel and waste. Our processes use resources carefully and aim for long service life. We make uniforms that respect people and the world they live in.

Sustainable Impact >>>

Materials and Processes

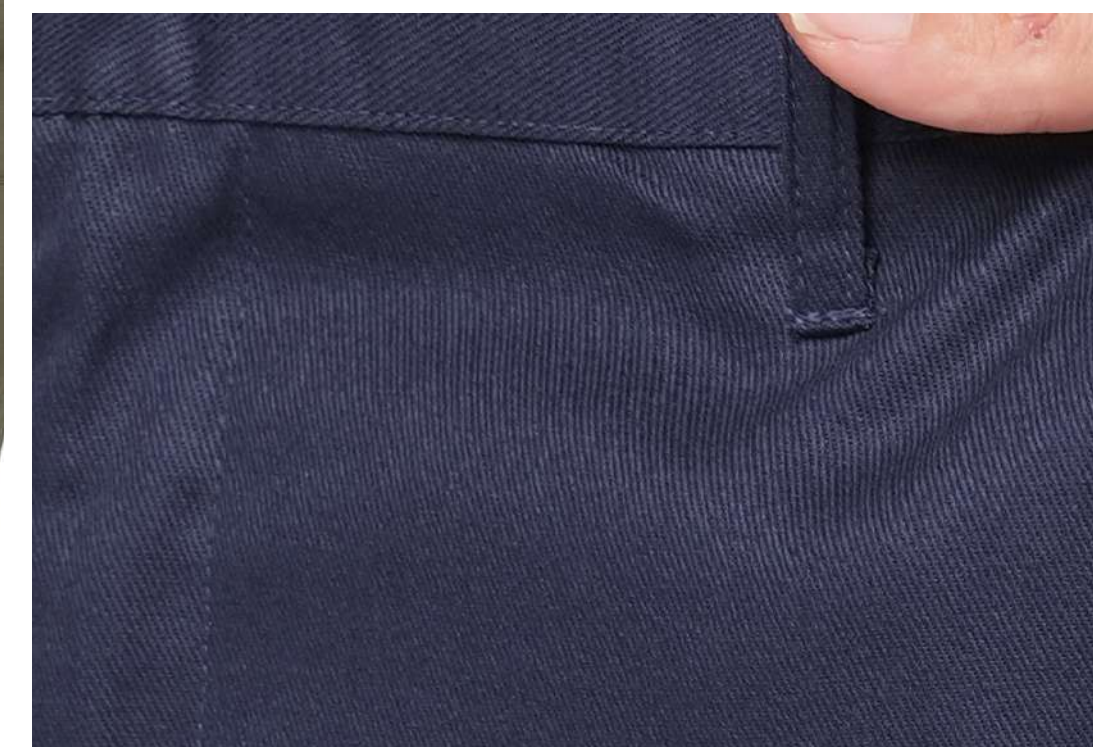

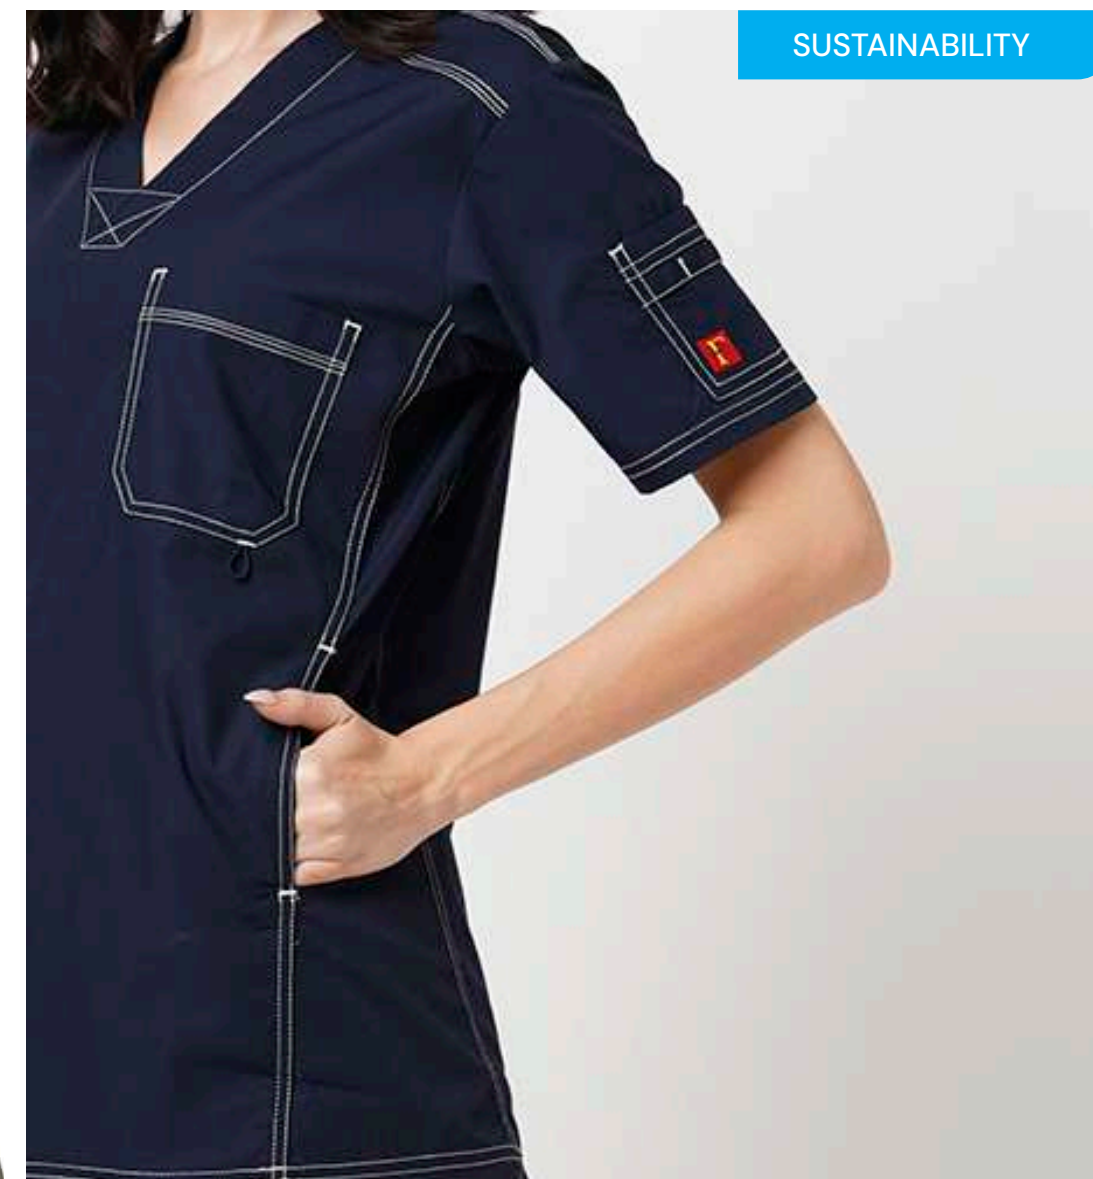

Sustainability begins with what we make and how we make it. Our fibres are traceable from source and include responsibly grown BCI cotton, recycled polyester and regenerated cellulose. We also use low impact dyes to reduce water and chemical use. With most of our supply chain partners located within a 300 kilometer radius, we keep processes efficient, transparent and low in emissions.

Sustainable Impact >>>

Durability and build quality

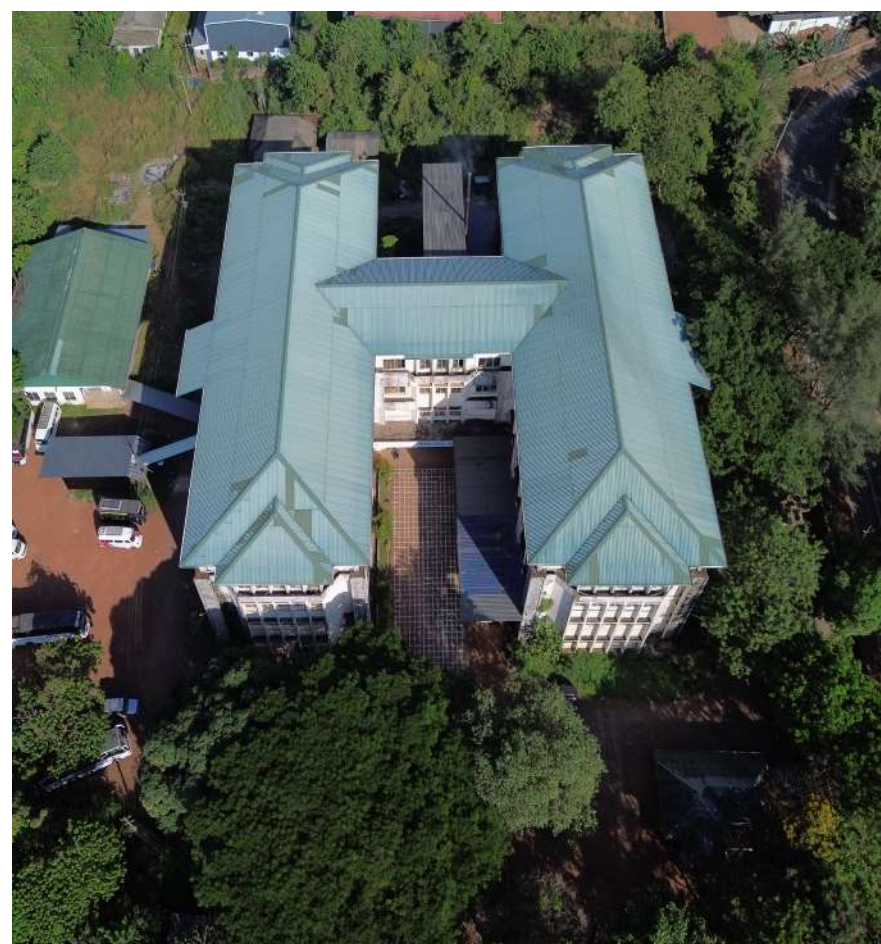

Sustainability also means making garments that last. Our uniforms are engineered for strength and tested through repeated washing, ultraviolet exposure and daily wear. Fabrics are scientifically characterised for tear strength, tensile strength, abrasion resistance and colour fastness. With triple stitching, bar tacked stress points and certified trims such as YKK zips, every detail is designed for reliability. Longer lasting garments reduce waste, minimise replacement cycles and provide better value to customers.

Sustainable Impact >>>

People and Ethics

Sustainability is inseparable from responsibility to people. More than one thousand women form the core of our workforce, empowered with secure livelihoods and long-term skills. We also hold our supply chains to strict standards on equality, inclusion and safe working practices. We operate with a zero tolerance approach to modern slavery and maintain partnerships with suppliers who share these values, many of whom have worked with us for over thirty years.

Certifications and standards

Our commitments are backed by globally recognised certifications. WFC is certified to ISO 9001 for quality management and ISO 14001 for environmental management. We also maintain accreditation through Sedex and WRAP, which provide assurance of ethical practice, fair labour and responsible sourcing across our supply chains. These certifications confirm that sustainability at WFC is not a claim but an independently verified standard.
